COVID-19 BACK-TO-BUSINESS APPROACH

As we all clamour to get back to our creative endeavours and help you flesh out the awesome ideas you have cooked up in isolation, we want to assure you that MiLO Casting is here for all of your needs.

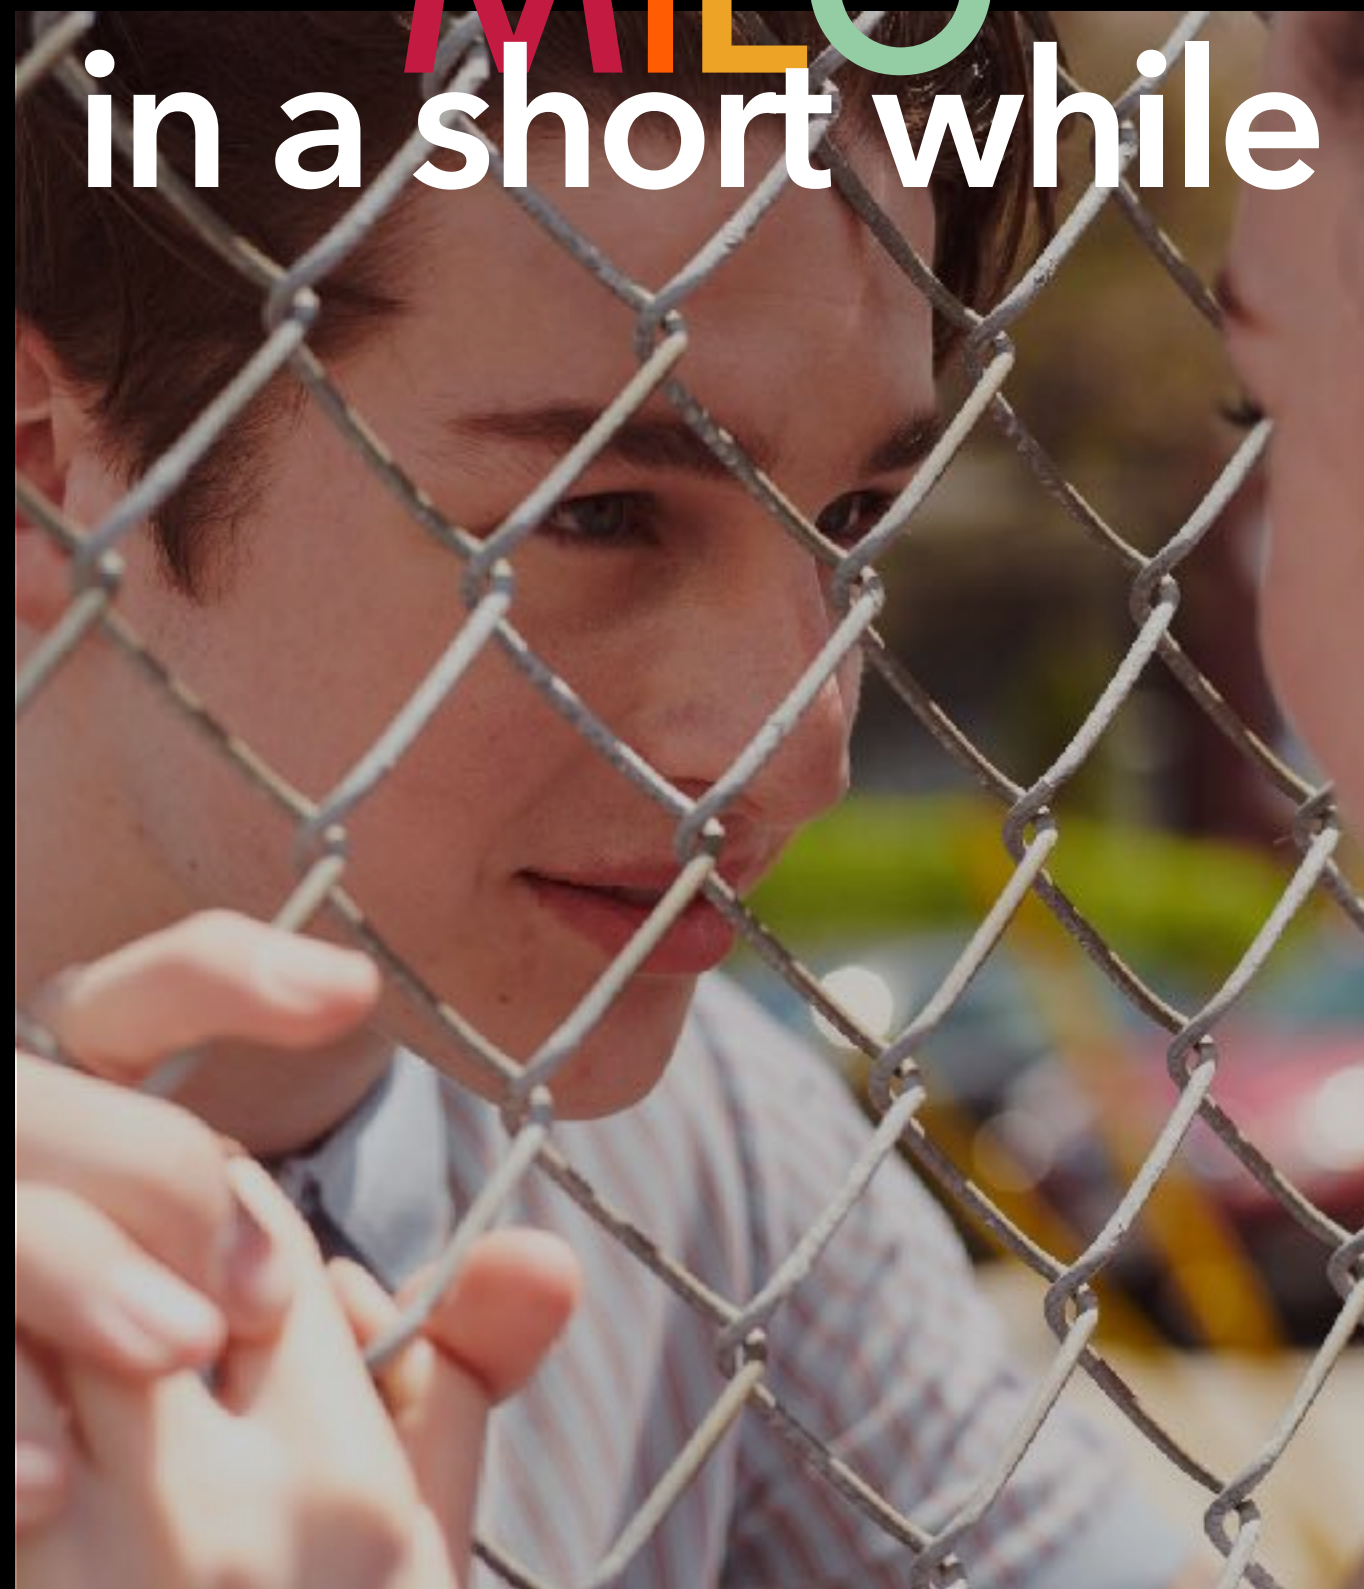

Below you will find our approach to servicing our clients with new remote solutions and increased safety protocols that allow us to produce the same high-quality work. We look forward to reigniting a more profitable future together!

MiLO right now

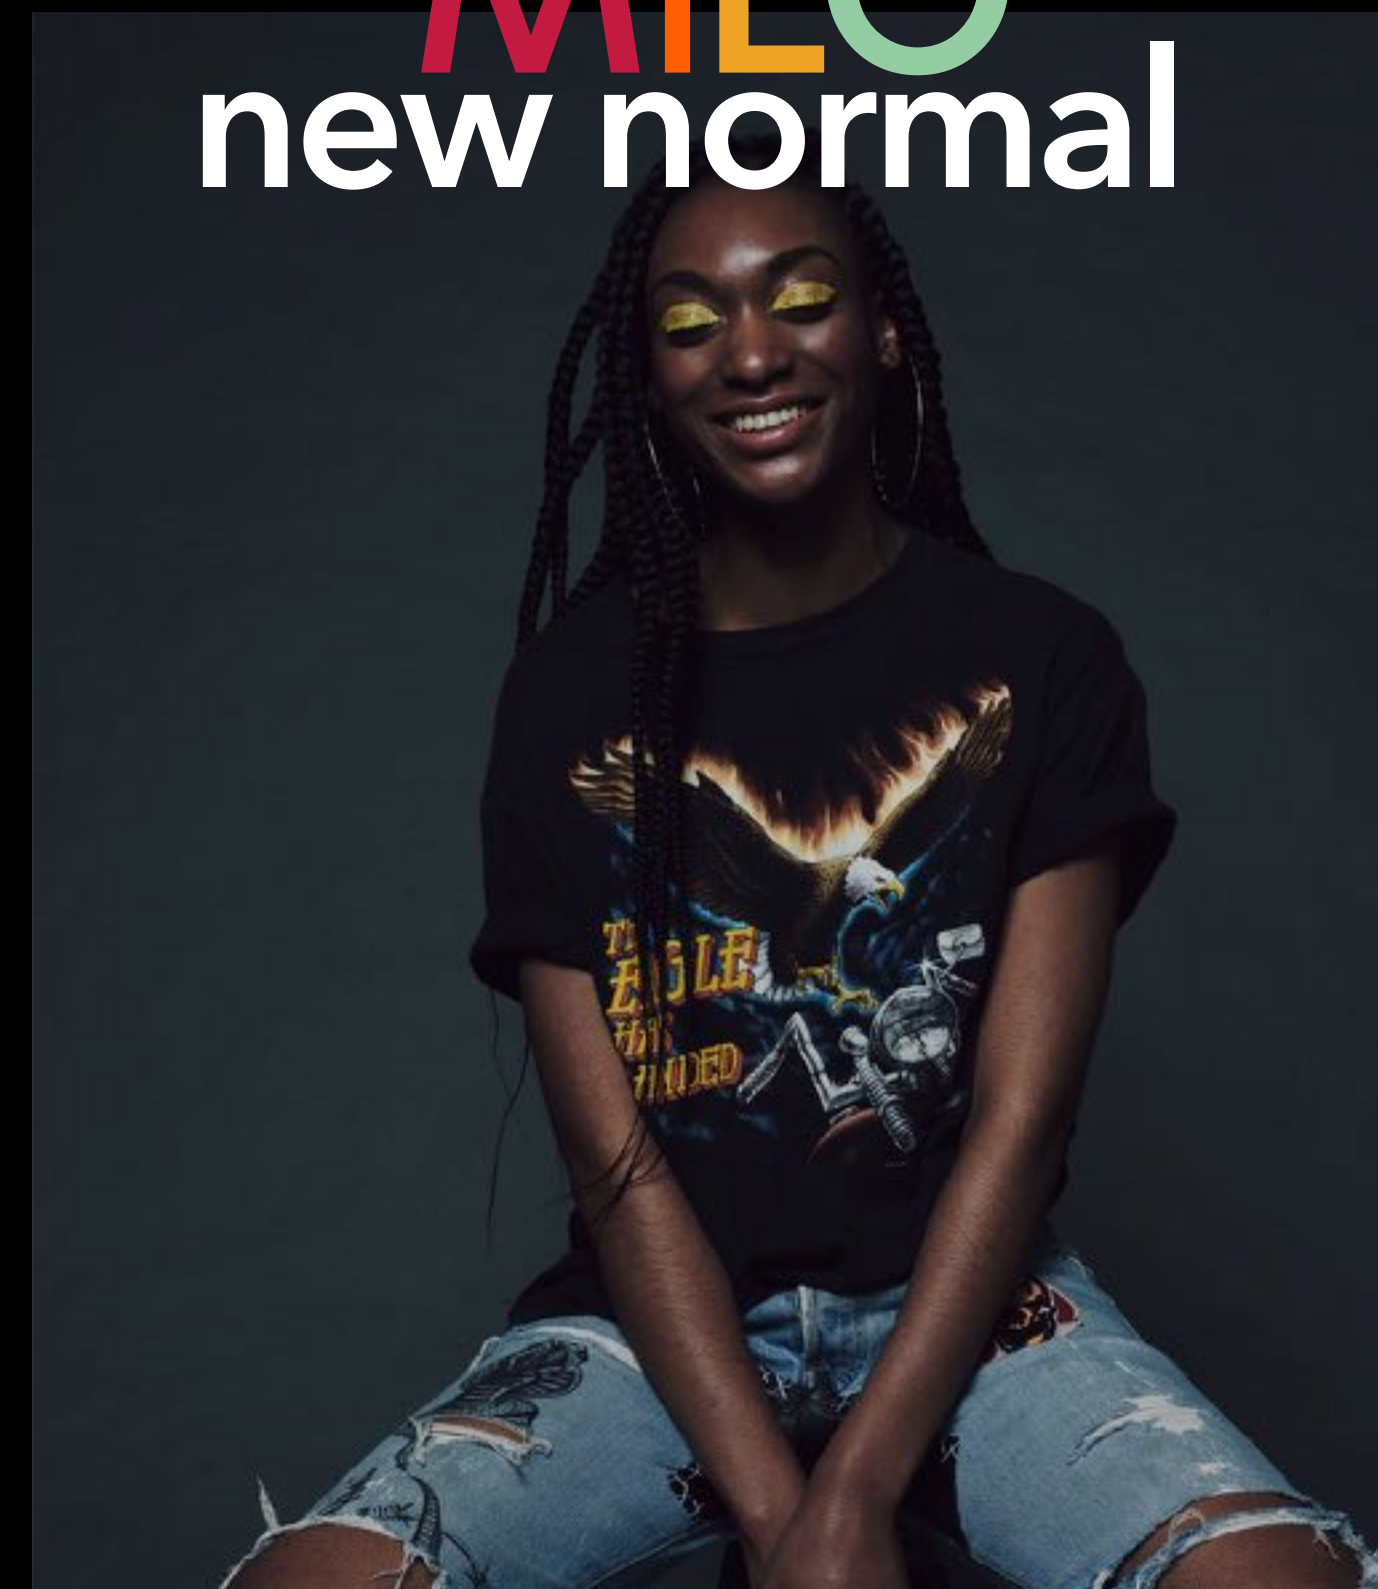

We are currently offering remote casting services including self tapes with director notes, research for hard-to-find talent and real people, digital links for talent selection, talent selfies, reuse negotiations for previous campaigns and more!

MiLO in a short while

A more intimate in-person casting service where clients can attend a session that we hold in our casting studios with up to five people. Clients will have the opportunity to interact with talent in the room or over Skype to give notes and to redirect. This will also be recorded and uploaded to a presentation link for detailed review.

MiLO new normal

When the time is right, we will be offering in-person initial auditions and callbacks with enhanced safety procedures. Client attendance will be optional; air handshakes will be mandatory. 😊

MiLO right now

A.K.A. MILO FROM YOUR COUCH

- Online casting through a link of talent self tapes. The talent who are selected record self tapes from written client/director notes.
- Audition callbacks for a remote client-attended Skype session. Clients meet talent on Skype, direct, and interact with them. MiLO records auditions remotely and provides clients with a link at the end of the callback.
- Online casting through a link of talent headshots. The talent who are selected provide up to date selfies/full body shots & portfolios.

MiLO in a short while

AVAILABLE IN A (SOCIAL) DISTANT AMOUNT OF TIME 🙄

- Continue to offer all remote services above.
- Industry standard precautions and practices as we (and you) get back to work!
- We will begin to offer in-person castings with up to five people in the room at any given time.
- Audition schedules with less density to reduce risk of crowding and adhere to physical distancing guidelines
- Clients will be provided with an online link to follow along in real-time (or on their own time).
